Course Overview

This one-day Emergency First Aid at Work qualification will teach you how to deal with emergency situations and administer general first aid treatment. It is designed for people who are appointed as a designated first aider in the workplace.

Modules Covered

The course is ideal for those that are required to hold a first aid qualification but don't require the more comprehensive First Aid at Work qualification. It covers all the main workplace first aid situations you may need to deal with including:

- Managing an unresponsive casualty
- CPR
- Choking
- Shock
- Bleeding and wounds, along with other minor injuries.
